Trapped for three hours by rising tides and swift currents that cut off their retreat from rocks below Chain Bridge over the Potomac, three youthful fishermen are hauled 90 feet to safety by a fire rescue squad. One of the rescuers, Lt. M. C. Farrell (center), directs Robert Barly (right), 17, as he starts up the ropes to safety. Robert Horne (left), 19, awaits his turn. The third boy, Jackie Hughes, 16, had been hauled to the bridge when the photo was made. (NEA Telephoto).

Gales, Storms Rip Up Central, South U.S.

More Than Score Dead in Wake of Winds, Damage Heavy; Gets Colder

Chicago, March 27 (AP)—Early spring tornadoes and thunderstorms ripped across parts of the central and southern sections of the nation yesterday, killing more than a score of persons.

The tornadoes which struck west central Indiana, parts of Missouri and Illinois and Alabama were the third to sweep over the country's mid-section within a week. The death toll from the twisters and storms was about 75. More than 40 died in last week's tornadoes while 13 lost their lives in the gales which hit Oklahoma Thursday.

Yesterday's twisters left their biggest path of destruction in west central Indiana. The known dead was 19. Scores were injured. Buildings in several communities were demolished.

Two persons lost their lives and scores were hurt when a tornado struck twice at Abbeville, Ala., near the Alabama-Mississippi line.

Another twister swept over an area along the Mississippi river near the Missouri-Illinois line at St. Charles, Mo. No deaths were reported in the region, where last week's tornadoes took the lives of more than a score of persons.

A mother and her two sons were killed near Paris, Ill., near the storm area, in an automobile truck collision during a driving hail storm.

Stormy weather was general over most sections of the central states yesterday. Strong winds, rain, hail, sleet and snow swept over the region. The rains diminished today after falls from distant and central Arkansas northward into eastern Iowa and through the Ohio valley and lower Lakes region.

Snow, sleet and high winds snapped communications lines in the Dakotas and Nebraska. Thunderstorms were reported in Oklahoma after Thursday night's tornado in the eastern part of the state. Cooler weather spread over most of the north central region today as the rains diminished, moving eastward. Some sections reported temperature drops of 30 degrees.

Red Cross Acts

The Nook Is Sold To William Mower

Woodstock Restaurant Will Be Operated as in Past Years

Woodstock, March 27—The sale of The Nook, situated near Tannery Brook and the Bearsville road, was consummated Friday night when Harry Velsor and Bill Halterman, former owners, transferred possession to William Mower, who formerly was associated with his brother, Fred, in Mower's Market.

George Neer acted as real estate agent during the negotiations of the sale of the ice cream and restaurant establishment which is said to be one of the oldest business places in Woodstock.

Mower, it is reported, has taken immediate possession and has announced that he will continue to operate the business as in the past.

Speaking to a reporter today the new owner said it would take him about 10 days to get completely organized and to know what he would do concerning the complete building. There are two studios and several single rooms in the building.

Mower also stated that he will carry on the tradition of hanging paintings of Woodstock artists at The Nook.

The new owner was associated with Mower's Market until January 1, 1948.

Approve Sale
An application of the Town of Esopus Post, No. 1298, American Legion, Department of New York, Inc., to sell property in Port Jervis to the Church of the Presentation of the Blessed Virgin of Port Jervis for the sum of $3,000, has been approved by Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Schurick.

Will Ignore Demand
Lake Success, March 27 (AP)—The Czechoslovak Communist government will ignore a United States demand for an explanation of its rise to complete power a spokesman said today.

Open air worship in mountain settings will bring an estimated 30,000 persons to the Garden of Gods at Colorado Springs and another 12,000 to the Park of Red Rocks near Denver.

In western Idaho, non-sectarian services will be held for the 10th year at Lizard Butte, near Marsing. San Francisco scheduled its 26th annual observance atop 939-foot Mt. Davidson.

In southern California, a throng of 35,000 was expected at Forest Grand Canyon Easter services

Will Pray for Peace In City on Easter

Many citizens of Kingston will join thousands of persons of all races and creeds in offering a silent prayer for world peace at 8:15 p. m. on Easter Sunday.

The plan originated in Valley Stream, L. I., where the entire community, aroused by the critical condition of world affairs, will unite in prayer at that time.

Mayer Oscar V. Newkirk has endorsed the plan, asking: "Will you not pause wherever you may be at 8:15 p. m. tomorrow and earnestly unite in that great prayer for world peace?"

Murray to Name Kelder's Successor As City Home Head

The appointment of a successor to the late Rufus D. Kelder as superintendent of the city home is to be made by the county commissioner of public welfare, Edward E. Murray, it was learned today.

Some confusion had existed previously as to who would have that power since the merger of the city and county welfare departments which took effect January 1, 1947. The city home is now a part of the combined system, although it is devoted exclusively to residents of the city; the county maintaining its own home at New Paltz.

After a check by city and county officials, it was agreed today that legal authorization to make the appointment belongs to Commissioner Murray. The appointment has not yet been made. Commissioner Murray told The Freeman Friday afternoon.

Advise Observation
Seoul, March 27 (AP)—American occupation officials said today south Korean political leaders can if they wish attend a Soviet-sponsored meeting in north Korea April 14. One high official observed: "It might be a good thing for the rightist leaders, who object to the United Nations-approved election in south Korea scheduled May 9, to go north and find out for themselves how the Soviets operate on their home grounds."

Nation Ready to Solemnize Easter Elaborately Sunday

(By The Associated Press)
Centuries-old prayer, pageantry and song will solemnize the Easter festival tomorrow as the nation's millions of Christians worshipers extol the story of the risen Christ.

As the first rays of the morning sun reach across the land, the throngs will come together in churches, stadiums and picturesque outdoor settings where they will hear anew the message of the Cross of Calvary and the Resurrection.

The third Easter since the ending of World War II, it will be marked traditionally with sunrise services at the Amphitheater in the National Cemetery at Arlington. There, a cross of white lilies will be placed on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

Other early observances in the nation's capital will be held at service hospitals and at Fort Lincoln on the outskirts of the city where 75,000 persons are expected to gather at sunrise.

Dewey Goes West After Delegates

Will Deliver Two Major Speeches Next Week in Wisconsin and Nebraska

Dates Uncertain

N. Y. Governor to Keep Hitting 'Bungling' of Truman Regime

Albany, N. Y., March 27 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey decided today to make a "gambling" personal invasion of Wisconsin and Nebraska to seek delegate support of his candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination.

Dewey announced he would deliver two major speeches in Wisconsin next Thursday and Friday and two in Nebraska the following week.

He indicated he would continue attacking President Truman for what he termed the national administration's "vacillating and bungling approach to American foreign policy."

Until the governor's itinerary is completed tonight, it will not be known definitely where he will speak in Wisconsin or where or when in Nebraska.

An aide said one of the Wisconsin addresses would be in Milwaukee. He intimated the Nebraska speeches would be in Lincoln and Omaha, probably on April 8 and 9. Between the Wisconsin and Nebraska visits Dewey will return to Albany.

Primaries Near
In both states the governor will campaign virtually on the eve of crucial presidential primary elections involving all avowed and two potential candidates for the nomination.

Injunction Order Against Typos

Will Remain in Effect Until the Case Is Declared Settled

Indianapolis, March 27 (AP)—Federal Judge Luther M. Swygert today issued a temporary injunction against the A.F.L. International Typographical Union restraining it from violating the Taft-Hartley Law.

The injunction will remain in effect until the case against the I.T.U. before the National Labor Relations Board is settled.

The court order, names the I.T.U., its president, Woodruff Randolph, and other officers of the union.

They are restrained from authorizing or encouraging "subordination of local unions and members of the International Typographical Union to engage in or to continue to engage in any strikes, slowdowns, walkouts or other disruptive operations of employees in the newspaper publishing industry" in maintaining contracts which violate the Taft-Hartley Law.

Gerhard Van Arkel, I.T.U. counsel, said in Washington that the union "probably will appeal." He delayed a definite statement on this until the I.T.U. lawyers could read the order and confer about it.

The suit against the printers' union was filed by the general counsel of the N.L.R.B. January 16. It was aimed at halting strikes in the newspaper industry.

This last of the Taft-Hartley Labor Relations Law was the subject of two hearings which lasted two weeks.

72-Hour Delay in Coal Settlement To Probe As Lewis Fails to Present Facts

Eisenhower Being Pushed Into New Political Corner

Anti-Truman Democrats Want General; Two Sons of Roosevelt Back Move

By JACK BELL
Washington, March 27 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was being pushed into a new political corner today by anti-Truman Democrats who want him as their party's presidential candidate.

The general, who froze a G.O.P. draft-like drive last January, is reported to have told friends in the last few days he is no more available for the Democratic nomination than he was for the Republican post.

But this may not be enough to head off a new movement that had all the signs of an organized drive.

If it isn't, Eisenhower's friends predict the retired army chief of staff will make another statement.

The general didn't leave much room for doubt about his position in January. He said the "decision to remove myself completely from the political scene is definite and positive."

When he said he "could not accept" a nomination, it was pointed out, it was pointed out that Eisenhower's views about the Democratic nomination may have been passed along to President Truman.

It was directly against the President that the latest converts to the draft-like movement aimed their arrows. These came from two sons of the late President Roosevelt, Franklin D. Jr., and Elliott.

They both urged Eisenhower to become a candidate—and in doing so, apparently split the Roosevelt family.

In California son James, the Democratic state chairman, had just smoothed over a threatened revolt against Mr. Truman on the Palestine issue. And in Phoenix, Mrs. Anna Boettlinger, the late President's daughter, indicated her opposition to a military man heading the government.

Franklin told a news conference in New York yesterday that Eisenhower should be drafted for the nomination. He said he spoke as "an individual, citizen and a voter."

From Hyde Park Elliott issued a statement saying that Eisenhower should be a Democratic "unity" candidate to "rally liberals and conservatives in a program of American leadership to sell democracy throughout the world."

On the heels of pro-Eisenhower statements by Dixie civil rights rebels and by Jacob Avey, Chicago Democratic leader, these moves seemed to add up to an organized draft.

Wallace Accuses Truman
New York, March 27 (AP)—President Truman's administration was accused by Henry A. Wallace last night of resorting to "infiltration tactics to silence the opposition," "program of regimentation and preparation for war." The third party candidate, speaking over a nationwide radio (NBC) network, declared that President Truman "set the pattern" for the tactics in his St. Patrick's day speech in New York.

Truman disavowed the support of "Henry Wallace and his Communists." "The men who speak of reigns of terror in Europe are fast introducing a reign of terror here at home," Wallace said, adding that "President Truman set the pattern when he branded the millions who oppose his policies as 'Communists.'"

Situation Serious
Helsinki, March 27 (AP)—The Finnish cabinet met last night but nothing is known about the meeting or the reason for it. It was assumed, however, that the Finnish government by now has been informed by the Finnish delegation in Moscow of details of the Russian treaty proposal and that its points were discussed. The atmosphere in well informed political circles is serious. It generally is presumed that the question of the proposed pact now has entered a decisive stage.

Operators Finish With Their Side; May Use Force

Washington, March 27 (AP)—John L. Lewis forced a 72-hour delay today in government efforts to bring the soft coal strike to a speedy end.

He brought President Truman's special inquiry board to a standstill by failing to appear at its first hearings yesterday.

The three fact finders finished hearing the "operator" side of the miner pension dispute in less than two hours.

When the United Mine Workers' chief didn't show up, the board recessed until Monday. The bushy-browed Lewis was given until then (10 a. m.) to decide if he will appear voluntarily. Otherwise the board could force him to appear by getting a court order.

Why He Was Absent
Lewis stayed away, he informed the board, to study "legal questions involved." But his absence threw a monkey-wrench into board plans to work steadily through the Easter week-end to speed a report to President Truman.

That report must be in Mr. Truman's hands before he can seek a court order to halt the walkout under terms of the Taft-Hartley Act.

Meanwhile the strike, nearing the end of its second week, was paralyzing industry. Secretary of the Interior Krug appealed to the few coal mines still operating to dole their production only to essential consumers. And Krug asked everyone to help save coal.

He estimated that three more days of the strike will affect 25 per cent of the steel and rolling mills, 27 per cent of the

15½ Cents Wage Boost Proposed For Railway Men

Washington, March 27 (AP)—A Presidential Emergency Board recommended today that locomotive engineers, firemen and switchmen should get a wage raise of 15½ cents an hour, retroactive to last November 1.

The Railway Labor Act requires the three brotherhoods to keep working for 30 days. After April 26 they will be free to strike if they want to.

The board, headed by William M. Leiserson, made its report today to President Truman.

Besides the wage, the dispute involved 37 proposed changes in working rules.

The brotherhoods had demanded a 30 per cent wage boost with a $3 per man daily minimum.

The board's wage proposal of the board would give the three brotherhoods the same benefits received by the trainmen and conductors who settled last November for 15½ cents effective November 1.

A 15½ cents an hour raise amounts to $1.24 a day.

Stellar Property To Be Attached, Court Order Says

Christopher D. Morris Claims $7,500 Is Owed Him by Stationer

An order of attachment has been signed by Supreme Court Justice Harry T. Schrick in an action brought by Christopher D. Morris, plaintiff, against George Stellar, defendant, directing the sheriff to seize and hold property of defendant pending the outcome of the action which has, been brought by Morris to secure payment of two notes which the defendant made to plaintiff in the total sum of $7,500.

Harry Gold is attorney for plaintiff.

The complaint, filed in the county clerk's office, states that on December 6, 1947, plaintiff, Stellar, gave a 60-day note to defendant in the sum of $4,400 and that on December 31, 1947, an additional $3,000 was borrowed and a demand note was given.

Plaintiff in his action papers states that on March 21, 1948, Stellar and his wife left for Springfield, Mass., and that they also informed persons that they intended to take a drive to New Jersey.

Plaintiff alleges that efforts to locate Stellar in either place has failed and he also alleges that defendant also removed from his room in The Huntington on Pearl street, owned by the plaintiff, clothing and personal belongings "indicating he does not intend to return."

Morris, in his papers, states he has made a demand for the money owed and has not received it. Stellar operated the Broadway Business Bureau on Broadway. The business place has since been seized by Sheriff Smith on order of the court which directed attachment.

Bad Check Charge
Police are still seeking George Stellar of the Broadway Business Bureau, against whom they have a warrant charging grand larceny in the second degree.

The warrant alleges that Stellar passed a check in the amount of "over $200" to the Governor Clinton Market on March 20, the check later being returned dishonored as "not sufficient funds."

District Attorney Louis G. Brulin revealed today.

Rain for Easter, Weather Prediction
New York, March 27 (AP)—Easter fire will be paraded along Fifth Avenue later than usual tomorrow if the Weather Bureau's prediction holds true.

Changing a previous forecast of overcast skies, the Weather Bureau said it would rain during the morning with clearing skies forecast for the afternoon.

New York's famed Easter Parade usually begins after morning church services but early morning churchgoers and paraders tomorrow probably will don raincoats and rubbers.

To Probe Cargoes in Red Ships

Policy to Keep Soviet and Satellites from Getting Material for War Machine

Controls Lacking

Won't Send Locomotives to Finland While She Talks Treaty

Washington, March 27 (AP)—An administration clamp-down on exports of war goods to Russia failed today to stifle demands in Congress for extra padlocks.

Rep. Mundt (R.-S.D.) said he intends to go right ahead with an amendment to the $6,205,000,000 House Foreign Aid Bill which would give the director of the European Recovery Program veto power over "war potential" exports.

And Chairman Ritzley (R.-Okla.) said his House Expenditures Subcommittee is going to dig deeper into the disposal of World War II surplus supplies to the Soviets.

Will Check Cargoes
Committee investigators, he told a reporter, are going to New York to check goods being loaded onto Russian-bound ships. He said they also will look into reports that the Soviet Union is selling export licenses.

And Chairman Shafer (R.-Mich.) of a House Armed Services Subcommittee said Commerce Department officials will be quizzed next week on shipments to the U.S.S.R.

For months Congressional committees have been digging up information about oil and ships—and, in the last few days, airplane engines—Russia has been getting from this country.

Truman Steps In
President Truman stepped into the export dispute yesterday. He issued a proclamation tightening controls, particularly on exports of "war engines and radar equipment."

Following that move—1. Secretary of Commerce Harrison told a news conference Russia and her satellites are getting no exports except those the army and navy approve.

2. The War Assets Administration said it is delaying for at least 30 days taking Finland's high bid of $1,666,900 for 46 unused steam locomotives. Finland and Russia are talking over a military treaty, but W.A.A. didn't mention that, or any other reason for its action.

Harrison said the new policy on shipments to Russia has been in effect since March 1. He said the idea is to keep Russia and the satellites from getting U. S. goods that might build up their "war potential."

Mundt said in a statement that this is a "reaffirming, constructive move." But he added it is "an open admission that their pro-

False Bomb Report

Movie Audience Unaware as Police Hunt for Time Explosive

New York, March 27 (AP)—Two thousand patrons of Loew's Paradise Theater, Grand Concourse and 188th street, the Bronx, sat through a regular show last night, unaware that a dozen detectives and half a dozen firemen were hunting for a time bomb which police had been informed was set to go off at 8 o'clock.

They came armed with a portable fluoroscope and a time bomb detector, and searched the movie house's basement and balcony. All they heard at 8 o'clock was the sound of a time bomb which the police said the bomb report came by telephone from an unidentified man.

The Auburn

Volume 2 Design 10

The Auburn has 5 rooms and bath all on one floor and is modern in every detail. The rooms have been made reasonably large to insure comfort and convenience in living. Closet space is spacious. Walls may be of brick, shingles, stone or clapboard.

Size 28'x42' Cubage 20,000'

Floor Plan

Copyright 1940. Architects Co-operative Plan Service, Inc., Providence, R. I.

"The Auburn" the "Home of the Week" Provides for Five Rooms With Full or Part-Cellar

The dictionary defines a cottage as "a small house." But that does not imply that the designer necessarily crams all the rooms into such a limited area that the occupants feel the walls are closing in on them, or so condense the layout that it becomes impossible to pass from one portion of the house to another without literally "running around in circles."

Because of its avoidance of these faults, so common in cottage plans, "The Auburn," introduced today by The Architects Co-operative Plan Service, Inc., is especially appealing.

Good Wall Space

In this five-room house there is no sense of "crowding." Good wall space in every room simplifies furniture arrangement. And complete circulation is provided through the house with out "back-tracking."

Yet this house definitely belongs in the cottage classification. Its cubage is 22,000 feet while the overall dimensions of the house—42-28 feet—can easily be accommodated on a lot with a 60-foot frontage. Even a 50-foot lot might serve. In that case the fireplace location could well be changed to the long inside wall of the living-room.

Brick veneer, or indeed, almost any sort of exterior wall treatment can be used for a home of this style. The simple Colonial front door has glazed upper panel, to light the small entry hall. A cut-closet is provided.

Shelves Plank Fireplace

A cased opening gives access from the hall into the 12x21 foot living room. If desired, the large mullion window in this room could be equipped with casement sash instead of the double sash sketched. Two small windows, with built-in book shelves, below them, flank the fireplace at one end of the room, giving additional light and ventilation.

In addition to the cased opening to the entrance hall, the living room has two other similar wall openings. One looks into the adjoining dining room, at the rear of the house; the other, into an inner hall connecting the bathroom and two bedrooms. A large linen closet is located in this hall.

Convenience in Kitchen

The dining room, 11x12 feet in floor dimensions, has a built-in corner china cabinet. Built-in working counters and wall cabinets in the kitchen are centered by the sink, this located under a window looking on the garden area at the rear of the house. Access to the room (which measures 11x9 feet) range and refrigerator, a door to the cellar stairway, and a broom closet fill the inside wall. The room also is planned to contain a built-in ironing board, so located as to leave unimpeded the line of circulation through the house and to the rear service entry doorway.

The bathroom is compactly planned and includes a towel closet. Both bedrooms in The Auburn have floor area measuring 12x12 feet; windows on two exposures and a good sized clothes closet.

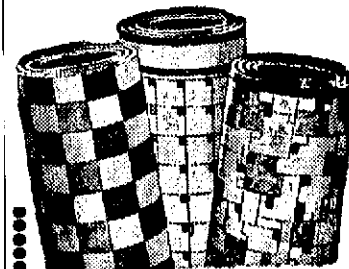

Either a full or part-cellar could be constructed for this cottage. If the former, then laundry room might be located directly under kitchen, heater and storage rooms under the dining room and part of the living room. The rest of the basement could then be partitioned off to suit owners' desires or needs.

This house should face from northwest to southwest.

Plans Are Available

Complete plans for "The Auburn" may be obtained at moderate cost. To ascertain exact price of these documents, write to the Home Building Editor, The Kingston Daily Freeman, and enclose a self-addressed envelope bearing a three-cent stamp. At least one week should be allowed for a reply.

Ten Central Hudson Workers Get Awards

Ten employees of Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation received service awards from that company during the month of March, 1948.

Cesar Van Steenberg, of 10 Center street, Kingston, and Taylor M. Barry of 366 Hooker avenue, Poughkeepsie, celebrated their twenty-fifth year with Central Hudson this month.

Those with ten years of service include Clarence C. Raiche, Main street, Tannersville, and Frank W. Shay, Shirley avenue, Fishkill.

UNION CENTER

Union Center, March 26 Mr. and Mrs. William Sucht have returned to their home after spending the winter in the south.

Mrs. Emil Richter spent last week-end in New York. Mrs. Schulte, Mrs. Lyons and children spent the week-end at their summer home here.

Mrs. G. Berger, Mrs. G. Allan Kent and Donald Lane spent a few days recently in New York. The Ladies' Aid Society will hold a card party next Tuesday at 8 p. m., in the Union Center Chapel. The public is invited.

53,000 on Strike

Tokyo, March 27 (AP)—More than 53,000 of Tokyo's municipal workers struck for higher wages today, halting street cars and closing city offices. It was Tokyo's first street car strike in 14 years.

Atomic Files Moved

New York, March 27 (AP)—Secret files of the New York office of the Atomic Energy Commission were moved to new quarters last night under armed guard. The entire moving operation from the Empire State building to the new headquarters at 70 Columbus avenue was completed under cover of darkness. Manager William E. Kelley said. More than 3000 cubic feet of equipment and files were moved, Kelley said.

Use Sizing on Plaster Before Applying Paint

Application of a coat of sizing on plastered wall surface before painting is a wise procedure. A good preparation for sizing may be purchased from any paint dealer or may be made up of varnish thinned with turpentine and colored with a little of the wall paint.

Vapor-Resistant Insulation

With the question of moisture penetration into the framing of structures becoming more acute with the advent of modern heating and air conditioning, many builders are advising the use of insulating fabrics or materials which seal walls against penetration of moisture vapor. Under modern systems of heating and air conditioning, it is estimated by commercial engineers that relative humidities are increased from as low as 5 per cent to as high as 50 per cent. This moisture passes readily through plaster and other structural materials until it reaches the dew-point temperatures and then deposits in droplets. In side walls this moisture may settle to the bottom of the section, drenching the entire framework. Such condition causes framing to warp and twist, distorts interior work, and frequently blisters paint.

Damp-Proof Basements

Damp basements are often due to improper backfilling. When a foundation is dug and later refilled, rubbish is sometimes used in the fill. Water running down the walls of the house collects in pools and seeps through pores or cracks in the walls and into the basement. The remedy is to refill the trench with clean, carefully packed dirt. In extreme cases it may be necessary to install a tile drain at the bottom of the trench to carry off the water.

Cove-Lighting System

Cove-lighting derives its name from the curved molding, near the ceiling line in which the lamps are concealed. It reflects light toward the ceiling, which results in an even illumination when properly designed. In modernization of a home's lighting system, cove-lighting may be substituted for the old type of central lighting fixture.

Glass Showers

Few modernization enterprises carry so much effect as does the installation of a modern glass shower cabinet. Most of the major plate-glass manufacturing companies market such cabinets, and they are now easy to obtain. Glass showers may be installed and the entire bathroom modernized.

Easter Ball Star

Dorothy Deering, hailed by the press as a remarkable acrobatic dancer, who does impossible feats in a dreamy graceful way, is one of the vaudeville stars scheduled to appear at the Easter Monday night ball in the municipal auditorium sponsored for the benefit of Benedictine Hospital. Other entertainers on the bill are Johnny Woods, a top-flight comedian and master of ceremonies who is known from coast to coast for his impressions of famous Hollywood and Broadway stars; Ken Whitner, the hilarious "professor of musicology," a happy combination of musical genius and merry wit; Richard DuBois whose mystifying illusions have brought him wide acclaim as one of the greatest performers in the field of magic. Music for dancing will be furnished by an orchestra from WOR Entertainment Bureau. Schedule for the event: Doors open, 7:30; overture by WOR Orchestra 8 to 8:30; vaudeville, 8:30 to 10 with assembly dancing following until 1 o'clock.

SHOKAN NEWS

Shokan, March 27—Mr. and Mrs. Abram Longyear of Phenicia spent Tuesday night at the home of Mr. Longyear's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Shurter, in the village center. The couple were on their way home from Texas where they had visited their son and family for several weeks.

Ray Cudney of Ashokan expects soon to help Edwin D. Secor, Tonawanda neighborhood farmer, in getting firewood off the Secor lot on the west side of Tice Tenkyle Mountain. Ed's lot was made inaccessible by the deep snow during the past winter.

Speaking of snow, a local resident who is employed at Lake Minnewaska each summer, reports that perhaps the most costly damage from snow weight in the county was to the modern, steel and concrete, 200-car garage at this big Shawangunk summer resort.

J. W. Jones, mountain road farmer, motored up from Scarsdale, Wednesday, to see the quintuplets to which one of the goats on the place gave birth earlier in the week. The event set something of a record as in the case of quadruplets born to the same animal last year. Mr. Jones also found at the farm a new Hereford heifer calf whose proud mama is one of a herd of five pure-bred Herefords and three Jerseys. Mr. and Mrs. Jones spent two months at Shrewsbury, La., going from there to Oklahoma to visit relatives, and thence to Louisville, Ky., their old home, and Chicago. They are now at the home of their son, Edward, in Scarsdale, where they plan to remain for a few weeks before returning to Shokan.

Monday, March 26, 1897: John Quincy Adams Ward, nationally known sculptor, has been trying to get the Peckhamose Club property west of Watson Hollow dissolved, and the property sold for some time. An order sale was made but this was followed by a motion to the U. S. Court by the Dimock people. Saturday, however, Judge LaCombe vacated the injunction and confirmed the order to sell, so the property, consisting of a large acreage of mountain land, three cottages, a stretch of the headwaters of the Rondout creek and will a fine lake stock with trout, will be sold by a receiver. Others involved in this now famous legal squabble besides Ward and the Dimocks are the Wentworths who, it is said, desire to gain possession of the land to add to their own Peckhamose holdings. The case is subject for much speculation and conversation in Olive, Denning and other mountain townships.

Bushkill Bess has spied an ad in the paper: Lost—Auto crank. Call 5812. Reward. "Goodness, why hunt him up," says Bess, "life will be sweet without him!"

One of the villagers who has been digging some of his parsnips, opines these loathsome roots are sweeter this year. He thinks the heavy blanket of snow may have brought about this enhanced edibility of a vegetable that thrives on frost-bites. Could be, however, that our reader was so fed up with winter that every aspect of life takes on an added saccharine flavor, right now.

It's a Fact: According to Washington Irving whose writings seemed to immortalize Rip Van Winkle, the Catskill, Catskill or Cat River Mountains derived their name in the time of the Dutch domination, from the catamounts by which these great hills and deep coves were infested in early days. "Kill" being Dutch for stream of water, whether brook, creek or river, the name for the mountains was pretty well chosen. The earlier Indian name of Ontonara, or Mountains of the Sky, also was good as well as more euphonious, and is therefore highly appropriate for the eastern end of Route 28, extending from the Hudson Valley through much of the mountains. Whether or not it should be Ontonara, in the plural, is perhaps a moot question and not one for splitting hairs over. Surely there is more than one mountain of the sky—many more—but Ontonara sounds good, and if the 's' is eliminated and forgotten, it is but a small matter to get excited about: Rip VanWinkle Trail is all right, too, but the Indians also deserve a break, in memoriam. Indeed, a song, titled "Comin' Down the Ontonara Trail" might at once prove a popular hit and bring added fame to our salubrious sector. Yes, indeed.

Increasing the heat under boiling water does not raise the temperature of the water.

Hold Man for Robbery

Cambridge, Mass., March 27 (AP)—James Tilley, 27, of Weymouth, was held in $50,000 bail today on a charge of being the lone robber who scooped up $25,000 from the cash counter of a store yesterday and escaped in an automobile believed driven by an accomplice. The robbery at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology store occurred just 11 weeks after a $50,000 holdup of its parent establishment at Harvard University.

Quill Resigns Post

New York, March 27 (AP)—Michael J. Quill, president of the C.I.O. Transport Workers Union, has resigned as head of the Greater New York C.I.O. Council. Quill said his resignation was prompted by a "group of strange people within the C.I.O. council" who are "seizing on disagreement between the council and the national C.I.O." as a "cheap and underhanded way of splitting the unity of the C.I.O. here or elsewhere." The national C.I.O. has

Wanted Milk, Not Wallace

Ausable Forks, N. Y., March 27 (AP)—Rockwell Kent, painter, lithographer, writer, politician and farmer, has given away his milk route. About 100 of his 300 customers in this Adirondack area dropped away after he circulated pro-Wallace pamphlets last month, the artist reported. Two of his four dairy men left. The other two received all of his milk route

M. W. Bray Recovers

Utica, N. Y., March 27 (AP)—Former Lt. Gov. M. William Bray, who was burned severely 10 weeks ago, was released yesterday from St. Elizabeth Hospital. He has made an "exceptional recovery," Dr. John F. Kelly said.

Canal Traffic Delayed

Albany, N. Y., March 27 (AP)—Opening of the state Barge Canal system will be delayed until about April 12 because of ice around a Hudson river lock at Troy has prevented completion of repairs. The 525-mile waterway would be ready for traffic next Thursday if the Troy job could be finished. Public Works Chief Charles R. Sells said yesterday.

Turfman Dies

San Mateo, Calif., March 27 (AP)—H. C. (Dutch) Hill, 71, wealthy Stockton sportsman and thoroughbred owner, died here yesterday of a heart attack. He had been in ill health several years.

EASTER DAWN

Easter is the pinnacle of faith for all those who call themselves members of Christendom. It is the fountainhead of hope for those who pursue the vision that first was shown them by the Christ.

It is a vision for today—a vision of brotherhood and understanding and peace among the peoples of the earth. In the day in which the Carpenter of Nazareth spoke of this vision it was just as daring as it seems today. Sometimes it seems as if we were now no nearer to that era of brotherhood than on the day when Jesus was crucified. But we are not further away.

On Easter morning in the far corners of the earth men and women and wide-eyed children lift their faces to acknowledge the reality of the great vision.

The day of brotherhood will yet dawn upon the earth. They will make it dawn—they who in hushed cathedrals and on barren hillside this Easter morning lift their hearts to Heaven.

They also work to make it dawn who do not call themselves religious, but who nevertheless see God and the Vision in the awakening of spring on the earth.

"For winter's rains and ruins are over,
And all the season of snows and sins;
And in green underwood and cover
Blossom by blossom the spring begins."

Then, indeed, the miracle of resurrection, of renewal of life, of the new hope and another opportunity is made manifest. In the light of the Easter miracle, all things become possible. The day of brotherhood will yet dawn.

RETURN OF THE CHESTNUT

The chestnut, almost extinct since 1940, is coming back. A century ago, luxuriant chestnut forests in eastern United States and Canada provided pioneers with valuable timber, tanning bark, as well as food from the nuts. A blight, thought introduced about 1880 from Japan, spread like wildfire. Dead white ghost trees were all that remained in most parts of the country of the once prolific variety.

The United States Department of Agriculture started cross breeding surviving American chestnut with Chinese specimens. Experiments, conducted largely at Beltsville, Md., have been going on for ten years. Now, 300 young trees are produced annually. They are distributed for planting throughout the country, most of them in the southern Appalachian districts. The new tree combines the Chinese type's blight resistance with the American's winter endurance.

This is important national conservation. The destruction of the chestnuts was an economic tragedy and created a scenic eyesore in many places.

THE LONG SPOON

"He who sups with the devil should have a long spoon." This old proverb should have been remembered by the Europeans who collaborated with the Nazis, as Dr. Goebbels' newly published diaries show. Marshal Petain and his Vichy supporters justified themselves by the argument that, by cooperating with Hitler, they were protecting France. But in a diary entry dated April 30, 1942, Goebbels says, "If the French knew what the Fuehrer is one day going to demand of them, their eyes would in all likelihood brim over. It is good for the present not to say anything about this and try to get out of French expectations as much as we can."

The French collaborators with the Nazis would ultimately have experienced the same reward that came to Czechoslovakia when she tried to be friends with the Communists. The advocates of appeasing Stalin should remember that he does not necessarily show all his cards at once.

SECRETARY OR SENATOR?

LILIES OF HOPE

It is impossible to be hopeless in the Spring. Life is resurrected each year in a mysterious symphony. For no matter how ordinary the scientist makes the cycle of life, how casual he makes everything that we are and that we live, it is nonetheless a miracle that when the snow melts, the grass is already green; when the frost disappears, the trees bud and soon blossom. From somewhere the squirrels and robins appear. They always reappear as life itself is resurrected.

And a gayness seizes upon even the most depressed. One looks to a new hat, a brighter color, a happier meal. The Easter Parade bursts forth in renewed youth. Reurrection, the spirit of man is resurrected from the chilled tomb of hopelessness. And man is no longer hopeless.

It is the Spring festival, which every race of man celebrated; the festival of hope. It is the season of faith that God's wonders will everlastingly be done. For no matter how much we know and learn, this we never discover: Why it is that man, of all creatures, should have been chosen to uncover the wonders and mysteries of God's world? And that, too, is the miracle of Easter.

We make our own distresses and wonder that we are distressed. We permit ourselves to be blindly misled and wonder that we do not know where we are going. We follow false leaders who trick us with the Golden Calf of security and the golden calf of heaven-on-earth and we wonder that Heaven never is on Earth nor can it ever be.

This we do know: We want peace. And peace has been promised to us. And there would be peace, and not only peace, but human love and brotherhood, if only we dared to be truthful. For what is it that men quarrel over on this Easter day? Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends. Ye are my friends, if ye do whatsoever I command you. . . .

"These things I command you, that ye love one another. If the world hate you, ye know that it hated me before it hated you. . . ."

Gloriously, He spoke of love. And even today, when men are surfeited with years and decades of hate, the little Easter blazes again to remind the world that peace is love and love comes only with peace. And those who hate peace, hate God. For what falsity can cause men to believe that their selfish willfulness can serve some good purpose? They hate peace as they hate God. They hate peace as they hate mankind. They know no Easter. They know no Jesus. They know no resurrection. The spirit, since they recognize nothing spiritual or supernatural. They accept only what they see — and they are blind, blinded by their own deceits.

But for us there is a resurrection of the spirit. For we love God—and we love man.

NERVE DEAFNESS CURED BY HISTAMINE

One of the mean ailments which afflict men and women who work hard and get tired mentally and physically is migraine or one-sided headache. In addition to the headache, there is dizziness, nausea and vomiting. Treatment by rest in a quiet, dark room helps most of these cases, but ergotamine tartrate is now the most successful method of treatment. Breathing in pure oxygen is another successful method of treatment.

Some months ago I referred to a number of cases of migraine successfully treated by injections of histamine reported by Dr. Angus Campbell, Toronto, in the "Canadian Medical Association Journal." In many of these cases there is also some loss of hearing.

While many cases of deafness are helped by blowing open the eustachian tube, which carries air from the throat to the inner side of the ear drum, where the auditory or hearing nerve has been damaged the outlook for recovery is not good. That cases of nerve deafness can be helped by injections of histamine is reported by Drs. Olav E. Hallberg and Bayard T. Horton in "Proceedings, Staff Meetings, Mayo Clinic."

When sudden deafness is not accompanied by dizziness, nausea and vomiting, the cause appears to be edema (too much water) in the region of balancing canals, injecting histamine into a vein may restore hearing. The outcome is good if the treatment with histamine is started soon after the onset of deafness.

These physicians report that hearing improved in three or four patients after treatment with histamine. Histamine was injected daily either in an 0.8 per cent solution of potassium chloride or in isotonic solution of sodium chloride. Injections may be necessary for a month or longer.

The one failure was believed due to lateness in starting treatment, and to probable permanent changes in the structure surrounding the balancing canals. In other words, just as in other ailments — arthritis, cancer, tuberculosis, mental ailments — the earlier treatment is given the better chance of a cure.

That such a high authority as the Mayo Clinic has been able to help three or four cases of nerve deafness by histamine merits serious consideration.

the primary and the election, and might fall at either obstacle.

The last instance of preferring a Senate seat to one in the cabinet was that of Carter Glass, President Wilson's second secretary of the treasury. In 1920 he left the cabinet because of the death of Senator Thomas M. Martin of Virginia gave him a chance at a life-time job in the Senate. It proved so with him, for he held the place until his death in 1946.

Secretary Anderson may not have run for the Senate out of free choice as to the value of the two places. He may have thought that, by representing New Mexico in the Senate, he would stay in public life longer than as a cabinet officer, depending on the President's support and continuance in office.

gram of export controls to date has been inadequate and inept."

Mundt is a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, which takes the $5,205,000,000 Foreign Aid Bill to the House floor for amendments Monday. The measure is designed to supply global economic and military aid to backstop efforts of Europe and China to ward off Communism.

One Issue Unsettled

The bill, slated for passage Tuesday on Wednesday, has one tough issue left unsettled: How far Congress should go in seeing to it that the U. S. and Western Europe cut down on exports to Russia and her satellites.

Mundt already has put into the bill a section intended to persuade free Europe against building up Russian strength. It says in effect:

Nations getting help from us should not use American materials to make and sell to the Soviets and satellites goods which this country refuses to sell to them.

Against Whole Ban

Chairman Eaton (R-N.J.) of the Foreign Affairs Committee told reporters he is against letting Russia have any more war materials. But he said he also is against an outright ban on all exports to Russia.

"Barring exports is extreme," he said, "because we are not prepared to set up economic warfare with Russia or any other country with which we can have legitimate trade."

Yet Mundt said he looks for a strong effort to block all exports to the Soviets.

Secretary Harriman said yesterday he is against a complete export ban. He gave much the same reasons as Chairman Eaton. "We want to keep the door open to friendly relations with Russia and trade is one way of doing it."

Besides, he said, the United States is getting from Russia more than 25 per cent of the manganese and chrome needed for industrial use and strategic stockpiles. Both metals are used extensively in making steel.

If Russia reacts to the stricter U. S. export policy by stopping sales of manganese and chrome to America, Harriman said, it might with 27 delegate votes at stake. Full slates pledged to Dewey, Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Harold E. Stassen are entered.

On April 13, Nebraska will elect 15 delegates to the G.O.P. national convention. The declared candidates—Dewey, MacArthur, Stassen, Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Gov. Earl Warren of California and two prospective aspirants, Senator Arthur W. Vandenberg of Michigan and House Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr., are on the ballot.

The state's primary law permits filing the names without permission of those designated.

Decides After Survey

Dewey's decision to interrupt his "homework" of bill-signing and take to the hustings came only after he and his top political advisers had canvassed the Wisconsin situation thoroughly.

Trusted lieutenants told the governor that MacArthur was leading in the general's "home" state and probably would win the majority of the delegate votes. They also reported that Minnesota's former Governor Stassen was gaining support there.

Dewey scouts there advised the trip. The governor and his board of strategy weighed the probable advantages and disadvantages. Either course, they agreed, was a political gamble.

Opponents of the trip argued that if Dewey campaigned in Wisconsin and made a poor showing his foes would say he was through.

Proponents contended his appearance in the state would gain him needed support.

Must Beat Stassen

Dewey finally resolved the issue in favor of going. It was reported he felt he had to finish ahead of Stassen to remain a leading contender for the nomination. Beating Stassen is his minimum objective in Wisconsin.

In 1944, Dewey captured 16 of the state's 27 delegate seats, with Stassen and MacArthur trailing, and went on to win the Presidential nomination.

The speeches will mark the start of a series of addresses during the next two months, Dewey announced in a statement devoted principally to a renewed attack on Truman's handling of the international situation.

"The time has come for a frank and blunt statement of the complex and serious problems confronting our nation and the world," Dewey said.

IT CAN'T HAPPEN HERE?

All our congressional investigating committees may now pack their bags and go home; they haven't got a job any more.

A federal judge last week ruled that no witness before a committee could be forced to answer categorically any question. He ruled that evading a question did not constitute refusal to answer.

Therefore any witness before any committee may evade any question and laugh behind his hand while the committee wastes public money getting nowhere. If higher courts sustain this decision the committee will be useless, having no way of making a man testify.

This case was an interesting symptom of New Deal degeneracy. Federal Judge Leon R. Yankwich of Los Angeles was on the bench. Before him came Communist-suspect Lester Cole, a Hollywood film writer and one of the famous ten "hostile witnesses" cited last fall for contempt of Congress after they refused—or I must now say failed—to tell the House Un-American Activities Committee whether or not they belonged to the Communist Party.

A motion picture studio had fired Cole after he failed to answer the committee's question and Cole was suing in Judge Yankwich's federal court to get his job back.

Deep Red

Said Judge Yankwich: "I don't think he declined to answer the question" (of the House Committee as to whether or not he was a Communist).

An attorney protested: "He evaded answering it."

The Court: "No, the record simply shows that he said, 'I will answer in my own way.'"

Attorney: "Answering in his own way was, in effect, saying to the committee that they had no right to ask the question."

The Court: "Can you cite any rule of law which holds that a witness before a committee is compelled to answer 'yes' or 'no'? There is no such law. . . . The record before the court gives his entire testimony, and at no time did he say, 'I will not answer the question.'"

Actually, Cole made no attempt to answer the question; he only persisted in challenging the committee's authority.

The judge declared that the studio's action in cutting this

Questions—Answers

Q—What was unusual about the conquest of Pantelleria?
A—It was the first time in history an island was induced to surrender by aerial bombardment alone, without the landing of troops.

Q—Do elephants use their trunks for drinking?
A—No, only to squirt water into their mouths.

Q—Did Lord Byron actually swim the Hellespont?
A—Byron swam the channel of the Dardanelles, or ancient Hellespont, probably at its narrowest point. He is said to have covered the distance of one mile in approximately one hour.

Q—Why is the Statue of Liberty placed with her back toward the United States?
A—She is supposed to be enlightening the world and therefore was made to face the world.

Q—Is a naturalized citizen of the U. S. entitled to all the privileges of a native citizen?
A—He is entitled to all privileges except one—the right to become President of the United States.

Browne's 'Everywoman' To Be Portrayed By Miss Randalie

When Walter Browne wrote "Everywoman," he stressed the characteristics of the characters for his play. All critics proclaimed it a great achievement. This play will be created by Emma Jane Randalie in a dramatic portrayal at St. Joseph's School Hall, Wednesday evening, 8:30 p. m., under the auspices of Court Santa Maria 161 Catholic Daughters of America.

While "Everywoman" was back stage in a Metropolitan theatre, she associated with Bert and Flirt, Lumps and Giggles and many other chorus girls. She had a good press agent in Huff. Her servants were Gravel and Snook. The society women she knew were Aggie, Good and Self and the sirens of the Great White Way were Vanity and Vice.

On New Year's Eve from her apartment, she starts on a new quest for Love. She talks with two policemen, Law and Order, and a minister, Charity. How "Everywoman" finally succeeds will be interpreted as the conclusion to the play by Miss Randalie.

Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Margaret T. Gorman, telephone 26, or Miss Dorothy Tanager, 3858, or any member of the court, also at the hall the evening of the performance.

CHECKING OUT OF HOTEL

The following question never has been sent me before: "What is the correct procedure for checking out of a hotel? All the advice I have seen is on checking in."

You go to the cashier's desk (or telephone from your room) and ask to have your bill made ready and give the hour of your departure. Then you finish packing and ring for a porter to carry any heavy pieces of luggage. If you have only a small hand bag, you may carry it yourself. You go to the cashier's window and ask for your bill and pay it. It might be wise to find out how late in the day you may occupy your room without being charged for another day.

Girl Visits Boy

Dear Mrs. Post: I am not quite 16. I have been invited by a boy who lives more than a hundred miles away to go to his prom. I met this boy here in town when he came to stay with his grandparents last summer. Would it be permissible for me to go without a chaperon? If so, should he pay my traveling expenses and should I take for granted that he expects me to stay with his family.

Answer: It wouldn't do at all for a young girl of your age (or older) to accept his insufficient invitation unless it is accompanied by a letter from his mother for whoever is head of his family. In visiting you in his guest, your family should pay your traveling expenses.

Divorcee's Rings

Dear Mrs. Post: I am separated from my husband and, in time, will obtain a divorce. But meantime, what do I do with my engagement and wedding rings?

Should I continue to wear both as always, wear them on the right hand or discard them?

Answer: You may wear them as usual until you get your divorce. After that, it would be well to move them to your right hand or wear other rings.

Question of Impulse

Dear Mrs. Post: When invited to a shower and unable to accept, is it customary to send a gift anyway?

Answer: Since those invited to showers are usually intimate friends, their impulse is to send a present. But this is in no way obligatory.

How to arrange the table for breakfast, lunch, dinner or supper is explained in Mrs. Post's book for No. 504, "The Etiquette of Table Setting." To obtain a copy send 10 cents (coin preferred) and a 3-cent stamp to her, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. ## Rev. Johnson Gives Lenten Talk; Guest Speaker for B. and P.

The Rev. Merrill Johnson, pastor of St. James Methodist Church gave a brief Lenten talk at the regular meeting of Business and Professional Girls Club at the Y.W.C.A. Wednesday.

He chose for his text, "Stand still now and again and consider the wondrous works of God," from the Book of Job.

The Rev. Mr. Johnson spoke of the haste with which people do things. He pointed out that most people do not even take a rest on vacation. However, he noted that in taking a bird's eye view of the world, one would see how fast it is revolving and could understand that haste is required. In conclusion, he stated that at the heart of things is a strong, steadfast power.

Next Wednesday the club will have as its guest speaker, Mrs. L. Col. Harold R. Smith of the Salvation Army. Several of the members have heard Mrs. Smith at North Long Branch, N. J., where during the summer season she has been resident director of the Salvation Army's Vacation Residence, Evangeline by the Sea.

Mrs. Smith is editor of the Salvation Army Sunday School Adult Quarterly. Many service men recognize her as being the author of devotional booklets such as "Campfire for Comfort," "Garrison Christian Soldiers," etc. Mrs. Smith was one of the many Salvation Army lassies who served overseas during World War I. During World War 2, she was active in Salvation Army War Service and U.S.O. In addition she is a lecturer on child psychology to parent-teacher associations, women's clubs and church groups.

In order to give the public an opportunity to hear Mrs. Smith, she will be presented at 7:30 p. m. Anyone in the community is invited to attend at that time. Those planning to attend supper are requested to make reservations by 5:30 p. m. Monday.

The idea must be effaced that marriage is a picnic, with sunshine all the time," declared the Church of Scotland's committee on morals.

Two women were talking on the deceptive power of men.

First: "So you think a man should deceive his wife. I must say that is an unusual attitude to take. I don't believe in it at all."
Second (Gently): "Yes. A man has to be a bit deceiving. If he wasn't, how would he ever get a wife in the first place?"

COME TO CHURCH...

Easter Sunday

Easter is more to every grateful heart than the thrill of wearing beautiful new clothes. More than gladness that the long winter is over and spring has come again. More than looking forward to the full blooming of a happy summer. It is the renewal of hope in every heart that life can be good, a renewal of faith in the future, an acknowledgement of the joyous reassurance in those immortal words: "Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid"—The glorious words that have rolled down the centuries bringing solace and relief to the burdened, are needed to-day in a confused and anxious world. To Him who said them, let us pay the tribute of our presence in His House. He is Risen!

Christ the Lord is risen today,
Alleluia!

Sons of men and angels say:
Alleluia!

Raise your joys and triumphs
high,
Alleluia!

Sing, ye heavens, and earth
reply,
Alleluia!

In Joseph's Lovely Garden and Unfold, Ye Portals and underlines the noble utterances of our official spokesmen with regard to the rights of small nations and the sanctity of international covenants. In striking this cruel blow at a small and persecuted people, the Truman Administration has made the very foundations of the United Nations and has seriously compromised the future effectiveness of international organization to preserve and maintain world peace.

"The citizens of this country will call the administration to account for its action. American public opinion must demonstrate whether it is willing to have our foreign policy dictated by oil imperialists and British agents, or whether it wishes to maintain the moral integrity and national honor of this country. The citizens will surely make their feelings known to an administration which employed the shabby procedure of going through motions of a fine print partition while waiting for the opportune time to spring this shocking reversal of policy. At the very moment that administration leaders were assuring the American people that our government continues to stand behind the United Nations, it is now attempting to scuttle partition in the inside pockets of our representatives at the United Nations."

"We believe that the answer of the American people will be clear and emphatic: We will have none of this duplicity and double-dealing. We believe also that American public opinion will give its fullest support to any action which the Jewish community of Palestine may take in carrying out the decision of the nations of the world."

Happy Easter to You! READER, I'm privileged today To enrich my thinking powers With a timely, inspired say: Here's wishing you and yours—A very happy Easter Holiday! Believe me, Friend, you and I, Have good cause to pray . . . And humbly thank GOD on high. For the blessings that HE Has showered along our way! Let's pray and make the prayer ring The will of our human worth, And proudly let us sing Hymns to HIS glory on earth! As faithful worshippers of HIS loving! Let's light holy-candles in HIS name! Offer flowers . . . Easter lilies if we can! Let's attend MASS and humbly offer our flame Of love to GOD—to serve HIS plan When and where HE chooses to effect our aim! Let's enjoy our Easter party long! Mist the enchantment of Spring! Let's put our happiness into song, And inspire the living to sing, Friend, to you the joys of Easter unsung!

Continued from Page One the Synagogue Council of America and the Rabbinical Assembly of America. Jewish religious organizations in Palestine, England, South Africa and Australia are participating in this effort, which will assume a worldwide character. In announcing this mobilization of American public to have the American Zionist Emergency Council issued the following statement: "The U. S. Government's reversal of its position on Palestine is nothing less than an act of betrayal. It is a betrayal of all the solemn commitments and covenants of every American administration since the time of Woodrow Wilson, and more especially, of the repeated promises and declarations of the Truman Administration. It is also a betrayal of the high objectives to which our Government is committed in world affairs, and undermines the noble utterances of our official spokesmen with regard to the rights of small nations and the sanctity of international covenants. In striking this cruel blow at a small and persecuted people, the Truman Administration has made the very foundations of the United Nations and has seriously compromised the future effectiveness of international organization to preserve and maintain world peace. ## Sacrifice Bidding

Is All-Important

By WILLIAM F. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service

Sacrifice bidding is an all-important factor in tournaments. If your opponents are vulnerable and bid four hearts and can make it, they will receive 120 points for tricks plus a 500-point game bonus—820 points. Non-vulnerable, against a vulnerable game, you could afford to go down three tricks double, or vulnerable, two tricks double, 500 points in either case.

Against sacrifice bidding you have to be very careful to get all of your tricks. In today's hand West went to four hearts over three no trump, which South of course doubled. You will notice that North and South could have made three no trump, so in order to win on this board they had to try to set the opponents at least three tricks.

South won the opening diamond lead with the king and continued with the ace, which West ruffed. West went over to dummy's jack of spades and led a heart, which South won with the king. The five of diamonds was returned, declarer ruffed, cashed the two spades, then led a club and finessed the ten-spot in dummy.

Now South found himself end-played. When he won the first trick with the king of diamonds he should have led back the ten of spades. Even though declarer won this in dummy with the jack and led a heart South could have taken it with his king and exited with another spade. Declarer would win this with the ace, go over to dummy with a spade and lead his last card from dummy. However, South could win this trick and exit with a diamond.

Setting a contract 500 at rubber bridge is pretty good, but in tournament bridge the 500 score might give you a bottom. Therefore you must be on your toes when playing against good players who know how to employ sacrifice bidding.

Miniature Skyscrapers

Sara's, a capital of Yemen, is a city of miniature skyscrapers, some reaching seven stories in height. These have been a traditional style of architecture since before the time of Christ.

Physician Believes Body in River Since Fall

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., March 27 (AP)—The body of a nude, headless woman found along the eastern shore of the Hudson River near here last Wednesday is believed to have been in the water since last November.

The sheriff's office reported that Dr. Edward Cotter, assistant medical examiner, examined the body with its left arm also missing, and estimated it had been in the river since fall.

Officers said the identity of the woman, about 45 years old, still was a complete mystery. The body was sent to the state police laboratory in Albany for further examination.

A railroad section foreman, Earl Conklin, of Rhinecliff, found the body about two miles north of Rhinecliff.

Admiral Peary found 26 species of birds nesting within 450 miles of the North Pole.

Denies Troop Delay

London, March 27 (AP)—The foreign office denied today negotiations are underway with the United States to delay departure of British troops from Palestine.

Michael McDermott, State Department press officer, said in Washington last night he knows of no basis for London newspaper reports the United States intends to ask Britain to stay on in the Holy Land.
